The Middle East has become known for its huge growth in the hospitality industry. Hotels are opening throughout the gulf region. Countries like the United Arab Emirates, Saudi Arabia, Bahrain, Qatar, Egypt, Kuwait, Jordan and Oman have all had developments open in recent years. From towering business hotels to luxury resorts, many of the world's big names in hotels have opened here. Brands like Intercontinental, Hilton, Starwood and Fairmont have all recently built new hotels. This growth has also increased demand for hospitality professionals in the Middle East. There are many jobs available in hotels and resorts in the gulf. Positions are available for chefs, housekeepers, general managers, front office managers, food and beverage managers and many other types of hospitality related employment.

Whether your are a hotel employer looking to recruit or a job seeker looking to work in the hospitality industry, you will no doubt require the use of a hospitality recruitment agency. Hospitality recruitment agencies help assist in introducing employers to job seekers. One of the leading hospitality recruitment agencies in the Middle East is Hospitalio Recruitment. Hospit alio work with all of the major hotel groups in the Middle East and are experienced at sourcing hospitality professionals at all levels. From line staff to operational to corporate level they have one of the largest databases of candidates on the net.

To find out more about Hospitalio Recruitment in the Middle East, go to their website for the gulf

www.hospitalio.com

Joomla SEF URLs by Artio